

Trouble on the Farm

“What in the world is going on?” asked the farmer’s wife.	9
“Why does our fresh milk turn sour? Why do we have broken eggs? Why are the crows poking holes in our corn, and what about the other strange things that are happening?”	18
“I bet I know,” said the farmer. “A troll is behind this! Come on out to the milk house with me. I’ll show you what I have found.”	28
There on the white floor of the milk house were many strange marks. These same marks were all over the path to the garden.	38
“Of course it’s a troll,” said the farmer’s wife.	43
“Those marks must mean that a troll has come to live on our farm.”	54
